The Parent/Guardian of CHRISTOPHER WAIGWA MUTHUI

Dear Parent/Guardian,

RE: EQUITY BANK UNIVERSITY SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM

The Equity Bank family congratulates you for the role you played in CHRISTOPHER WAIGWA MUTHUI's excellent performance in the 2012 KCSE examination. We appreciate the challenges of parenting in our society and believe that your support, guidance and the manner in which you have molded him contributed to his exemplary performance.

In recognition of his performance, Equity Bank extends to him an internship opportunity for the period before his admission to university. During this internship period, he will earn an allowance of Kshs. 30,000 per month (Kenya shillings thirty thousand only) which will serve to finance his upkeep as well as tuition costs in a Kenyan public university.

As a young adult we shall give him the freedom of planning his finances, but would encourage you as a parent to guide him on how to prudently spend the sponsorship allowance. We have advised your son to open a Contractual Savings Account – Jijenge – or join the Equity Savings & Credit Co-operative Society (SACCO) and save through a check-off system. We kindly request you to guide your son to manage this allowance to meet his personal upkeep and save enough for his university fees.

We at Equity Bank are grateful that you have allowed your son, CHRISTOPHER WAIGWA MUTHUI, to join this organization through the Equity Bank University Sponsorship & Leadership Program. He will be trained and mentored on leadership and service together with other 255 top students of his 2012 KCSE class who have joined the program. As a beneficiary of this program, it is important that he adheres to our core values of Professionalism, Integrity, Creativity, Teamwork, Unity of purpose, Respect and Dedication to Customer Care and Effective Corporate Governance.

Once again congratulations and join us in our journey of championing the socio-economic transformation of the people of Africa.

Yours faithfully,

Dr. James Mwangi, CBS
Group Managing Director & CEO
